

The Evening World
Published by the Press Publishing Company,
100 N. 2d St., New York.
TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 11.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD
(including postage)
PER MONTH.....$3.00
PER YEAR.....$35.00
Vol. 24.....No. 11, 048

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class matter.
OFFICE: 100 N. 2d St., New York.
WORLD HALL: 100 N. 2d St., New York.
BROOKLYN: 100 N. 2d St., New York.
PHILADELPHIA: 100 N. 2d St., New York.
NORTH 2d St., WARD BOSTON-192 10th St.

375,000 Per Day.
Returns, Exchange List and All
Free Papers Deducted.

A TESTIMONIAL.

"The undersigned advertiser in New York City, having been invited to certify all books and accounts relating to the circulation of THE WORLD, certify that they have examined the circulation of THE WORLD, Morning and Evening Editions, per day for the six days of the week ended March 18th, 1893, after deducting all return papers, free papers and exchanges, was $75,000."

"BLOOMINGDALE BROS.,"
"By E. W. Bloomingdale."
"R. H. MACY & CO.,"
"By A. L. Kincaid."
"JOHN DANIEL & SONS,"
"By R. C. Allaire."
"ADAMS & CO.,"
"By John S. A. Lambley."
"EDWARD RILEY & SONS,"
"By W. A. Edmunds."
"LUDWIG BROS.,"
"By ALFRED J. CANMEYER."

THE EVENING WORLD'S
Not paid bona fide actual daily
Average Circulation is greater than the combined circulation of the Evening Sun,
Mail and Express,
Evening Post,
Commercial Advertiser,
Evening Telegram.

Croton water is just now to be numbered among strong drinks.
The Health authorities admit that the Croton water "may smack of vegetable." But it doesn't. It almost tastes like.

Mr. Cleveland is not a lone fisherman. The care of the nation, and especially of the office-seeking part thereof, is upon him.

It was not too much to expect that the Sunday opening of the World's Fair somebody would attribute the late visitations of high wind and flames at the grounds.

Lynch law's vehement advocates should read a powerful lesson in the Bardwell, Ky. incident, where it seems now almost certain that the wrong man was hanged.

The Sporting Extra of "The Evening World" presented the only intelligent and intelligible story of the fire at the World's Fair grounds printed in New York yesterday.

Few people will believe that water can taste and smell as the Croton supply does just now and be as pure as the officials at the Health Office would have us all think it is.

Salisbury opposes granting Home Rule to Ireland because India would then ask for it. Would he oppose paying a just debt to A because B would demand also a righteous settlement?

and its inmates have never had occasion for a moment to regret their venture. These gentlemen are now suffering only from the delusion that the city cannot get along without them, and their egotism, and that they must in time get everything they want. It will be unfortunate for New York and for the real Rapid Transit idea if no one arises to undeceive them.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

The tragedy at the grounds of the World's Fair yesterday was a most terrible one in its dramatic surroundings. The cold storage main building, which fortunately stood some distance from the other Fair buildings, was about 100 feet high, with a flat roof, with square towers at each corner, and in the center a large square tower of great height, surrounded by balconies, the topmost of which was 75 feet above the ground. Picture in the mind a small flame of fire appearing above this highest gallery at the top of the huge central tower, 230 feet above the roof and 170 feet above the heads of more than ten thousand people, who stood around the building looking upward with interested curiosity to see what appeared to be but a trifling blaze extinguished by the daring men. Then picture the tiny flame suddenly bursting into a conflagration through the fanning of a high wind, the burning brands from the top of the tower falling on the heads of the men in the balcony and on the roof, plunging down through the centre of the tower and speedily igniting the whole inflammable shaft. Then picture these victims hanging standing. Then picture these victims hanging above the outpouring flames, cut off from all retreat and with no choice but a leap of 70 feet to the roof or a plunge into the furnace raging below.

See one man leap out from the balcony, catch the rope by which the hose had been drawn up, slide down it through the flames and land on the roof with his clothes burning and with serious injuries, but still alive. Then see the rope burn away, cutting off others from even this slight chance of escape. See the rest of the victims either hurl themselves to death, or pausing until in the agony of death, they fall from the tower into the burning chasm below, carrying them down with it. Then add to all this ten thousand helpless human beings looked on, unable to succor their fellow-creatures in their deadly peril, women fainting, men falling on their knees praying for the poor victims, and some idea may be formed of the dreadful tragedy enacted at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon.

But who is responsible for the reckless indifference that cost so many valuable lives? Here was a building that had already been on fire, the insurance on which executed. It is feared that the underwriters because of its dangerous character, left without the slightest means of escape in case of a conflagration. Ought it to have been allowed to stand? Are there any more such death traps in the Fair Grounds. These are questions that demand a prompt answer. Not for a single hour should there remain the risk of any repetition of yesterday's most horrible tragedy.

WHY THE GAY CITY TREMBLES.

While order has been restored in Paris there is still an uneasy feeling consequent on the approach of the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille one hundred and four years ago next Friday, and on the fact that one year ago today Ravachol, the anarchist leader, executed. It is feared that on one of these occasions the disaffected element in the city may try to make trouble, especially as the 14th is a general holiday.

The orderly people dread the use of petroleum more than anything else. They remember the destruction that was done by the Communists in the Commune twenty-two years ago, and they tremble at the thought of a renewal of those scenes. But they do not reflect how different are the conditions now from what they were then. The people are changed. Then the Communists held possession of Paris, and could do as they pleased with it. MacMahon was ready to enter the city. There was no Government. Now the people have grown accustomed to the Republic, are satisfied with it and are prepared to stand by its institutions, however much they may be opposed to those who hold power for the moment. It would be impossible for a mob now to do as they pleased with the public buildings as they then destroyed the Tuilleries and the Hotel de Ville.

The worst elements of a great city are always ready to take advantage of a heated condition of public sentiment to create rioting, disorder and lawlessness for their own purposes. The dark troubles in the streets to-day are caused by the thieves of New York to plunder houses and rob individuals. The thieves of Paris may in like manner seek to build up an insurrection on the foundation of the recent disorders. But they will not succeed. Even if there should be rioting in the streets to-day, on next Friday, it will be speedily suppressed, and will not reach dangerous proportions.

Let us hope that the demonstrations will pass off without disturbance. One of the best guarantees of safety is to be found in the courage and the spirit of the people who began the late row, and are now against the mob and on the side of law and order.

THE TRUTH WILL OUT.

The request for an order to have the minutes of the Grand Jury of Kings County made public was presented to Judge Moore yesterday and was set down for argument to-day. The object of the request is to deprive people from giving testimony before the present Grand Jury by showing them that their evidence is not, as it is supposed to be, confidential.

But why is the application made on Mayor Boody's behalf alone, and not on behalf of the present Aldermen? Is it for the purpose of confining the published minutes to what refers directly to Mayor Boody and to conceal the evidence of collusion and fraud in the passage of the railroad franchise resolutions by the "cold thirteen"? The request was presented, and but Mayor Boody's name would have been indicted by the June Grand Jury because he signed the franchise resolutions, knowing them to be fraudulent and collusive. Is the new trick an attempt to show by the minutes that Mayor Boody was presented because he put his signature to certain resolutions while the proof of the scandalous and dishonest character of the resolutions is to remain covered up and concealed? Let the whole truth be known. It must and shall be placed before the wronged people of Brooklyn. The best way to do this is for the present Grand Jury to act on the evidence against the Mayor and place him at the bar of a criminal court. In justice and fairness to its predecessor the present Grand Jury ought to do this.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

It was "Woman's Day" yesterday, not at the Fair, but in the police courts. Frances Freney, said to be the prettiest girl in the Ninth Ward, the young daughter of respectable parents, and Mary Corbett, sixteen years old, were captured in an alleged thieves' den in Hoboken. Rhoda Richter, of Buffalo, a pleasant young woman of twenty-three, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. Minnie Schneider, a promising twelve-year-old Bostonian, confessed to several burglaries. A policeman's wife got herself arrested for assault on her husband on Fifth-fourth street. Mrs. Whyte was held for horse-stealing from strong man, Miss Edith Hastings was convicted of stealing an opal and diamond ring. Mrs. Dr. Kate Lawrence was held in the Fifty-seventh Street Court on a charge of malpractice, and at Jefferson Market the fair "May and Sadie" were brought up for skirt dancing in the streets, and discharged with a reprimand.

Who says that the fair sex does not enjoy all the privileges to which our gentle sisters are entitled? What's the matter with "woman's rights" in the metropolis?

A CARL ROAD'S DIFFICULTY.

The Broadway cable no great an improvement on the horse cars, but it ought to have no obstructions thrown in the way of its complete success. It is yet in its infancy, and the people, to whom it is a convenience and a comfort, should make reasonable allowance for any momentary shortcomings that require time and experience to correct. The great difficulty in starting a cable line is the want of capable men to manage the grip. It requires a quick eye, a strong arm and a level head. At such work a man must never get excited nor lose his coolness and presence of mind. Neither his looks nor his thoughts should for an instant get away from him. Of a hundred applicants it is fortunate if ten are fitted for the position.

It is believed by the Broadway Company that the grip in use is an excellent one. It is owned by no person, and is manufactured by the Company, those parts of the grip that are used being paid for with an automatic addition now being applied. It is claimed that it will be as perfect a grip as is in existence. But a grip cannot be worked automatically alone. It requires just as much care, attention and capacity on the part of the gripman, and it takes time to get an entire force of trained and expert men.

It has been the policy of the managers of the road to put the cable cars on by degrees in order to secure capable men, and as the road is a public advantage and a great improvement to Broadway, it is hoped they may succeed.

The Parallels in the House of Commons were unwise yesterday in voting against Mr. Gladstone and for the proposed Home Rule amendment to exclude Irish representatives from the Imperial Parliament. It is by such reckless departures that the Government is enabled to furnish what justification there is for the Conservative charge that Home Rule would mean Anarchy. Unity and patience are needed more than ever, at the present juncture, on the part of the green isle's friends.

Times make dollars, dollars pay the doctors, the doctors help the babies of the poor, and "The Evening World" simply acts as the medium through which this series of operations is kept up. Have you sent your dime or your dollar yet to help on the work?

A clean postal service for New York should include a clean Post-office. Mr. Clayton promises to do his best to have one. But it is more than likely that he will find that the string pulled so tightly on the Federal purse is binding also on his hands.

Rapid Transit did not come with the Easter lily, nor has it evolved with the summer evening. It is admitted that present prospects do not look favorable to its ripening with the Autumn fruit.

The saving of the St. Mary's schoolship will be the making of many a sailor of whom New York may have reason to be proud.

If the Gettysburg field is to be saved from the trolley's devastation its salvation has got to be prompt.

Paris is transformed from the gay to the apprehensive city.

PLOT TO ROB A TRAIN.

A Detective's Blunder Prevents the Capture of the Band.
WARRENSBURG, Mo., July 11.—Four men made an attempt to rob the Missouri Pacific train No. 4 at Bear Creek, four miles east of this city, at 11 o'clock Sunday night. They were foiled in the attempt by one of the men disclosing the plot. James Harris, a drayman of this city, was to climb over the tender and overpower the engineer and fireman, while the other three members of the band were to hold the train.

For some reason Harris confessed to Charles Morrison, a deputy constable, who in turn confessed to Detective Frank Burnett, and plans to capture the robbers. The band was composed of two men, one of whom was named Harris, who was to climb over the tender and overpower the engineer and fireman, while the other three members of the band were to hold the train.

Harris refused to give the names of the other three, but says they are residents of this city.

A Young Philosopher.

"Hi, Jackson! See that messenger boy running? Let's stop him and ask him why he doesn't get his hair cut." "What are you running for?" "I ain't got longer when I have a mind to." "See the boy."

She Was a Purist.

Tramp—Please, ma'am, can you give me a bit of Boston Woman—No, indeed. I'm very careful about what I put into my mouth.

THE FUND HAS $1,950.

Sick Babies Will Be Well Taken Care of This Summer.

The Free Doctors Have Treated 2,805 Children.

Entertainments to Be Given in Aid of the Charity.

All letters containing money for the Sick Babies' Fund should be addressed to "Caretaker of WORLD, Publisher Building, New York City." Letters of clothing, etc., should be sent to Mr. Roberts, 132 West Thirty-fourth street.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Previously acknowledged.....$1,924.12
J. S. W. & Co.....100.00
Gerritsen & Metten and Paulsen.....100.00
J. S. W. & Co.....100.00
Children's Week 1923.....100.00
Little's Living Library.....100.00
Edna R.....100.00
Carroll McKinnon and others, Brook- 100.00
lyn.....100.00
Sam. Webster Lodge A. O. G. M.....100.00

"Love is a wonderful thing. It makes or it mars us all." See George Arnold for the rest of the rhyme.

Love gave the Sick Babies' Fund wings, and now it is soaring towards the mountain top to take possession of the round tower of success. Seven weeks ago the generous and sympathetic readers of "The Evening World" were asked "to save the babies." In forty hours $131.88 was subscribed. To-day there is $1,950 to the credit of the fund. It is a brilliant bird of victory, the promise of a grand choral entertainment and the good will of hundreds of gentlemen and women—big and little—every one pledged "to save the babies."

All this is encouraging, gratifying, beautiful, but the sublime few figures are in the records of the Corps of Free Physicians. Those people men have, up to the present time, treated 2,805 poor little creatures, representing every race under the sun, and every phase of poverty and distress. Some of the patients didn't have a rag to their little backs. They were so poor that they couldn't so long that it was too late to do more than make their last hours as comfortable as possible. Some of the children were snatched from the very lips of death and given a new lease of life.

One mite of humanity was literally a bundle of rags, half frozen, and a little room in Cannon street, the parents, tailors by trade, worked, slept and ate in the windows. The child contained a bed, sewing-machine, one chair, and a charcoal furnace, on which the mother cooked. The father sat in bed, while the wife did the stitching, and the child lay on the floor beside the charcoal furnace. Between the charcoal acid gas and the mother's breath, the poor fellow nearly died. When discovered the "shop" was broken up under the mother's protest, and the child was sent away to her father's life again. Instead of the bundle of rags, the child was now a healthy, happy, and contented little fellow. The parents were satisfied to provide the "penny's worth of care." They have a new bed, a new sewing-machine, and a new coat for the child. The child is now a healthy, happy, and contented little fellow.

ST. LOUIS STREET-CAR HELD UP.

Seven Men Attack a "Sobtail," but Are Put to Flight.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 11.—Seven men attempted to rob a street-car on the north-bound car late last night, but were frustrated by the driver's bravery. The car was well filled with men and women returning from the Southside races. Suddenly it came to a full stop. The driver, a man of tremendous size, broke out the car door and tried to force the cash box from his fingers. The robbers were finally routed by the driver and some of the passengers without having secured anything.

TWO STUBBORN FIRES.

Albert's Pork Packing Shop and a Wagon Factory in a Blaze.
Shortly before midnight fire broke out in Albert's pork packing establishment, in the rear of 733 Ninth avenue. The building is four stories. The blaze gave the firemen considerable trouble, and the flames were not got under control before the stock had been burned. The fire was caused by a gas leak. The building was insured for $100,000. The fire was caused by a gas leak. The building was insured for $100,000.

BILLY LESTER IS DEAD.

The Well-Known Comedian Passes Away at Red Bank.
RED BANK, N. J., July 11.—Billy Lester, the actor, died this morning at 10:10 at his summer residence at Fair Haven. He had been sick for some time, and the immediate cause of his death was cirrhosis of the liver. He leaves a wife, Annie Hart, but no children. He was about forty years old.

OVER $100,000 LOST IN CROPS.

A Half-ton of Barages Twenty Thousand Acres in Minnesota.
PERLOS FALLS, Minn., July 11.—The hailstorm which struck this county Saturday evening was one of the most disastrous that ever visited the country. East of this city farm after farm lost everything growing. The hail was about the size of a pea, and was accompanied by a strong wind. The damage was estimated at $100,000. The hail was accompanied by a strong wind. The damage was estimated at $100,000.

Organization of Kemper's Band.

Permanent organization of Assemblyman Kemper's band. The band was organized by Assemblyman Kemper. The band was organized by Assemblyman Kemper. The band was organized by Assemblyman Kemper.

Prof. Duffy's Hotel Burned.

CINCINNATI, O., July 11.—The hotel at Bell Brook Springs, near Xenia, O., burned to the ground yesterday. Several guests had narrow escapes. The loss is $150,000. The hotel was owned by Prof. John Duffy, referee of the Sullivan-Corbett fight.

NOW ALL ENJOY THE MUSIC.

Wage Earners Appreciate Evening Concerts at East River Park.

Another Victory Added to "The Evening World's" Long List.

Dear Sir: I wish to say a few words in regard to the concert given at East River Park, which was attended by me and my family. The concert was most enjoyable, and the music was of the highest quality. The "Evening World" has done a great deal of good for the community, and we are all very grateful to you for the concert.

Residents in the vicinity of East River Park, that pretty breathing spot for the people between Eighty-fourth and Eighty-sixth streets, East End avenue and the East River, are jubilant and grateful over the change from afternoon to evening concerts.

The change was earnestly desired last summer by the hundreds of wage-earners living in the neighborhood, the vast majority of whom were unable to enjoy the concerts, then given in the afternoon, because their daily labor kept them away until evening.

At their request "The Evening World" took up their cause and championed it until the desired result was finally obtained. The cause was one that should have been responded to instantly by the Park Commissioners, but for some inexplicable reason they tried to throw cold water on the wishes of the people. The lighting of the park a year before, another concession secured by "The Evening World" for the people.

But "The Evening World" was not to be balked. The Commissioners said that it was by presenting a monster petition, signed by thousands of the residents of the neighborhood.

The "Evening World" found that the petition was a "hoax," and that the iron railing along the seawall wasn't safe. "The Evening World" insisted that it be made safe on the ground that if it was unsafe in the night it was equally unsafe in the daytime.

Fully 15,000 people attended this concert, and it was demonstrated beyond a doubt that evening concerts were demanded at East River Park. Informal difficulties arising in the band were immediately settled, and the remaining concert of last year in the evening, but at the beginning of this season the band was made up of the same musicians, and the same conductor, and the same orchestra.

The "Evening World" has been a great help to the community, and we are all very grateful to you for the concert.

ST. LOUIS STREET-CAR HELD UP.

Seven Men Attack a "Sobtail," but Are Put to Flight.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 11.—Seven men attempted to rob a street-car on the north-bound car late last night, but were frustrated by the driver's bravery. The car was well filled with men and women returning from the Southside races. Suddenly it came to a full stop. The driver, a man of tremendous size, broke out the car door and tried to force the cash box from his fingers. The robbers were finally routed by the driver and some of the passengers without having secured anything.

TWO STUBBORN FIRES.

Albert's Pork Packing Shop and a Wagon Factory in a Blaze.
Shortly before midnight fire broke out in Albert's pork packing establishment, in the rear of 733 Ninth avenue. The building is four stories. The blaze gave the firemen considerable trouble, and the flames were not got under control before the stock had been burned. The fire was caused by a gas leak. The building was insured for $100,000. The fire was caused by a gas leak. The building was insured for $100,000.

BILLY LESTER IS DEAD.

The Well-Known Comedian Passes Away at Red Bank.
RED BANK, N. J., July 11.—Billy Lester, the actor, died this morning at 10:10 at his summer residence at Fair Haven. He had been sick for some time, and the immediate cause of his death was cirrhosis of the liver. He leaves a wife, Annie Hart, but no children. He was about forty years old.

OVER $100,000 LOST IN CROPS.

A Half-ton of Barages Twenty Thousand Acres in Minnesota.
PERLOS FALLS, Minn., July 11.—The hailstorm which struck this county Saturday evening was one of the most disastrous that ever visited the country. East of this city farm after farm lost everything growing. The hail was about the size of a pea, and was accompanied by a strong wind. The damage was estimated at $100,000. The hail was accompanied by a strong wind. The damage was estimated at $100,000.

Organization of Kemper's Band.

Permanent organization of Assemblyman Kemper's band. The band was organized by Assemblyman Kemper. The band was organized by Assemblyman Kemper. The band was organized by Assemblyman Kemper.

Prof. Duffy's Hotel Burned.

CINCINNATI, O., July 11.—The hotel at Bell Brook Springs, near Xenia, O., burned to the ground yesterday. Several guests had narrow escapes. The loss is $150,000. The hotel was owned by Prof. John Duffy, referee of the Sullivan-Corbett fight.

HOUSE AND HOME
A Price Costume.
This is a prize London dress, designed for the Eton and Harrow cricket match. The skirt is to be white drill, the gored bodice of white guipure insertion. Each gored panel is ornamented with a fleur-de-lis design, formed of guipure, the maker's mark, and the design outlined with a white guipure. Under the skirt a slip is to be worn of blue guipure, and this slip should be tucked to the skirt wherever the guipure occurs. The blouse is of blue silk like the slip, crossed and tied in a bow behind. The neckband is also crossed and tied in a little bow in front. Over the blouse is a sash of white guipure.

With this dress is to be worn a wire shape hat, the brim covered in killed white linen. The trimming to be black satin bows, blue tips and forget-me-nots under the brim. Sun-shade blue silk covered in guipure; white stick and black bows on the top.

Colors of Flowers.

It is a remarkable fact that, although there are nearly or quite 100,000 flowering plants known, the relative number having odor is wonderfully small, not more than 10 per cent, in fact. In connection with this it is noteworthy that, because one species of flower is endowed with sweet odor, it does not necessarily follow that all, or nearly all, or even a fair proportion of the other species of the same family will be as favorably endowed. An illustration of this is found in the mignonette. There are some fifty species of this genus known, and of them all but one has no fragrance, nor is it certain that the most insignificant-looking flower has the greatest fragrance, or the most gorgeously colored likely to be without odor, thus seemingly disproving the theory that color and fragrance are given flowers for the purpose of attracting insects to assist in cross fertilization.

Cutlets of Cold Mutton.

Cut the remains of cold loin or neck of mutton into small cutlets, trim off some of the fat, season and dip them in a beaten egg, roll in bread crumbs and fry in boiling lard to a nice brown. Arrange them neatly on a platter, and pour around them a good gravy or hot tomato sauce.

The Youngsters' Nap Time.

Children who are allowed, or rather encouraged, to take a nap in the daytime during the warm weather will not only sleep just as well at night, but they will sleep much better because of it. Children who have been accustomed to it, when for some special reason it is necessary to miss it, become overtired, their nerves are overtaxed, and it is sometimes quite a trial of patience to get them quieted for the night. The little ones need plenty of sleep, and if well, will not sleep any more than is good for them. Therefore, I say, let them sleep all that they will or can, and if your boy will take a nap during the day until he is five or six years of age he will not be any the worse for it. In my view of thinking, he will be a great deal better for it, and so will the mother, that is, if he is as active and noisy as the average wee laddies. So don't try to "break up" his nap time. On the contrary, encourage him to keep it up just as long as he can do so.

Pork Chops and Apple Sauce.

Fry in own fat and serve with sauce of cored, sliced apples stewed in brown stock, seasoned with salt and cayenne and strained.

Care of the Clothes-Line.

Clothes-lines should be carefully taken down as soon as the clothes are dry. In doing this do not drag them on the ground or pull them over the dusty walks or porches, for they are liable to be damp and will catch any particles of dirt that they come in contact with. It is necessary to have a thorough cleaning when they must be used again, or the risk of making spots on the clothes. Tie the line up in a close bale and put it in a bag kept expressly for this purpose. Some people leave the lines out from week to week, and as a consequence, have to clean them and take the chances of having spots on the clothes. The clothes, or, worse than this, find them parted in some weak spot and the wash splattered and dragging in the mud. The few minutes' work necessary to take down and put away all lines is time well spent.

Cherry Pudding.

Put pitted and sweetened cherries an inch or so deep in the bottom of a pudding dish. Pour over them the following mixture: One cupful of sugar beaten to a cream with two tablespoonfuls of butter, one egg, one cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; flavor with nutmeg or lemon. Bake, turn from dish and serve with warm, sweet sauce, having fruit on top.

A Pocket Pincushion.

A cunning little pocket pincushion is made in the shape of an acorn. The cup is crocheted in nut-brown silk, the rest is olive green satin filled with bran, and the stalk is finished with ribbon.

Where Economy Is Health.

Economy is going to be the order of the day in China, apparently, for the Empress of that enlightened country has celebrated her sixtieth birthday by issuing a manifesto enjoining a general restraint of extravagance. Her Majesty has even prohibited the customary gifts of silver and porcelain by the officials. I wonder what the Chinese ladies think about this counsel of perfection, and whether they will make up their minds to do without any of those rich loose robes wherein they may be supposed to replenish their immense wardrobes yearly. The best of a Chinese woman is that it is accumulative. Fashion in the Orient only affects color, and that but slightly; it is as law as immutable as that of the Medes and Persians. The periodical clearness which the variations of the

Shred Shell and Celery Salad.

Shred shell, cabbage lettuce, mustard cress, primrose blossoms, and watercress, and mix them with sliced truffles, olives and lemon rings, also two or three capers. Arrange these in a salad bowl or glass dish, using some of the olives and truffles as decoration; put a fringe of light cream around the edge, with small bunches of primrose flowers (three to a bunch) at intervals, and put a small tuft on the top, surrounded by cress. For the sauce take the yolks of five large or seven small eggs (for a party of eight to twelve guests), season with salt and cayenne,

Turkey Soup.

Two quarts of medium stock (if none on hand, cold water will do), the remains of a cold roast turkey, salt and pepper to taste, one tablespoonful of butter, one onion, one carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one stalk of basil, one stalk of dill, one stalk of fennel, one stalk of chervil, one stalk of tarragon, one stalk of chives, one stalk of onion, one stalk of carrot, one stalk of celery, one stalk of parsley, one stalk of thyme, one stalk of sage, one stalk of rosemary, one stalk of bay leaf, one stalk of marjoram, one stalk of oregano, one